

Gommage de Pureté

It quickly eliminates dead cells while restoring radiance and freshness. Thanks to its Biosequential formula, it can be adapted to all skin types -normal, sensitive or oily.

BIOSEQUENTIELLE ACTION

Its formula contains a highly revitalising ginseng root extract, bamboo bark that strengthens the skin's defences, aloe leaves that have anti-ageing properties, and cucumber flower extracts that have moisturising and astringent properties. It neutralises the effect of pollutants, improves oxygenation, encourages osmotic exchanges, eliminates impurities and normalises oily skin.

ENERGETIC ACTION

Given its neutral polarity, it can activate both Yang and Yin energy. Yang energy provides the necessary dynamism for cellular regeneration. It improves oxygenation and makes the skin look radiant. Yin energy diminishes redness and tension; skin tissue becomes more compact and toned.

APPLICATION

This delicate scrub should be applied twice a week on the face, neck and bosom. The application frequency depends on the level of accumulation of impurities in facial skin due to environmental pollution, the frequency and intensity of makeup application and the type of skin (oily, acneic, sensitive etc.).

RESULTS

After the first application, the skin will regain its radiance and freshness. A purified and moisturised epidermis is noticeably more toned while facial contours are highlighted and rejuvenated.

BIOSEQUENTIELLE FORMULA

Flower	Cucumber	Its purifying and refreshing effect restores vitality and radiance to the skin.
Leaf	Aloe	Its bradykinase enzyme has a soothing, analgesic and scar-healing effect. It eliminates tension. It also has a healing and strengthening effect on the skin's immune system. Being rich in multiple vitamins (A as well as B and E groups), it has strong anti-ageing properties.
Bark	Bamboo	It has strong re-mineralising properties, encourages the synthesis of collagen, strengthens connective tissue and revitalises support fibres. It slows down the premature ageing process of skin tissue and eliminates free-radicals.
Root	Ginseng	It strongly revitalises the skin by reducing the production of free-radicals. It also activates the 5 skin functions for enhanced protection so that the skin can regain energy and vitality.

COMPLEMENTARY INGREDIENTS

Soy Protein: Its powerful energetic properties regenerate cells and help the skin retain its softness. It also greatly contributes to tissue regeneration and makes the skin more velvety and smoother.

Wheat Germ: It purifies, strengthens and revitalises skin tissue, effectively combats cellular ageing and protects the skin while restoring its softness and smoothness. Its tension-relieving action makes it an ideal oil for stressed skin.

Bamboo: A scrub composed of micro-spheres that contain micronised bamboo bark. Given its energetic neutrality, their natural active principles can fully preserve their revitalising properties.
